

Wyvern PhotoArt Data Privacy-Notice

We process, retain and use information you provide during a Salon entry process along with amendments you may request. This is combined with audit control information and any results generated during the judging and selection process. In accordance with the purpose of the Salon, the status of your entry and the results may be made public in either electronic or printed form.

In accordance with the Salon Conditions of Entry and the publicly available requirements of any organization which accords official recognition, patronage or accreditation to the Salon, the information pertaining to your entry may at their request be sent to such organizations in order to provide them with details of your results and also in order to assist them in any investigation they may undertake with respect to compliance with the rules pertaining to the Salon. This may entail sending such information to a country or countries which are not subject to the same data protection regulations governing the data we hold. In order to assist such organizations the data will be held beyond the closure of the salon.

Your data is, therefore, initially being processed under the 'consent' basis but will continue to be held and processed under the 'legitimate interest' basis in order that we can comply with the conditions imposed on us by such organizations.

Unless you inform us otherwise, we will interpret your entry as an on going hobby based interest in participating in photographic salons and we may send you details of other salons we organize.

Unless you have given explicit permission for us to share your contact details (name and email address) with other salons, we will not otherwise share or make such information public.

Although you have a right to request a copy of the information, we would point out that the information we hold is just a historic copy of your entry and subsequent results.
